Babalu

"Mexican & Spanish Eats"

Located in Overton Square, Babalu serves imaginative Mexican and Spanish treats loaded with bold flavors. This vibrant and lively restaurant has an extensive menu with mouthwatering appetizers such as Flash Fried Calamari and Black-eyed Pea Hummus, whereas taco specialties include pulled pork carnitas and Redfish varieties garnished with jalapeno-poblano vinaigrette. The taco shells are made by Babalu from scratch, while they lend a whole new meaning to fresh guacamole by preparing it on the table-side. Get your dose of Mexicana at Babalu's today.

Alchemy Memphis

"Crafted Cocktails in Memphis"

Alchemy Memphis lives up to its name by crafting amazing cocktails. Sip on a Hound Dog, made with bourbon, peach, ginger, lemon, and mint, or opt for a Gincident, made with gin, vanilla, lemon juice, and mango. The atmosphere is trendy, featuring a sleek decor. The food here is worth the visit in itself. Dishes like the beef sliders and roasted asparagus with Parmesan are made for sharing, while larger plates like the seared diver scallops and espresso-rubbed pork chop make for a filling meal for one.

Bar DKDC

"Eclectic Culinary Delights"

When you're out late night in Memphis, looking for a decent place to have a light meal and drink, then Bar DKDC is where you should go. A dimly lit bar, with quirky decor and mismatched furniture, the atmosphere here is full of life with live performances and regular events keeping the crowd entertained. Known for its exclusive small plate meals, customers here are treated to a variety of flavorful international street food blended with the essence of local cuisine. But not to be missed here are the signature cocktails from the rum-based plantation rum frappe to the whisky-based moonshine heaven, each with a sudden burst of flavor that will make calling for a second round inevitable.
