Katz's Deli & Bar

"New York-Style Kosher Delicatessen"

Katz's Deli & Bar, hailing from New York City, is famous for its huge sandwiches and kosher hot dogs. The huge two-story restaurant is decorated with New York memorabilia, and there's plenty of room to accommodate larger groups. While everything on the menu is tasty and made fresh daily, you would do yourself a disservice by passing up the famous fried pickles, homemade matzo ball and chicken noodle soup, hot pastrami or medium-rare roast beef sandwiches, or the ever popular kosher all-beef hot dogs with sauerkraut. Furthermore, almost everything on the menu comes with your choice of a side, and the potato pancakes and creamed spinach are particularly good. - Lydia Schrandt

Lola Restaurant

"Loving Lola"

For a leisurely weekend breakfast, quick lunch, or even a down home dinner, Lola hits the spot. Patrons commune at this bright and sunny neighborhood diner, where orders are placed at the counter and enjoyed inside at a booth or on the street-side patio. Choose from omelets, pancakes, and grits galore in the morning; burgers, sandwiches, and fresh salads midday; and even more unexpected fare for dinner, including pan-seared salmon with curry, and filet with truffle mashed potatoes. Great for groups or by yourself, this place is welcoming and accommodating. Like most diners, Lola doesn't disappoint when it comes to tasty food and atmosphere. - Gemma Amato

Black Walnut Cafe

"When You Don't Know What You Want"

Black Walnut Cafe is a pleasant "tweener lounge" of sorts. They have every kind of food for every type of hunger. The joint was seemingly made for that all too common "I'm-hungry-but-I-have-no-idea-what-I-want" mood. The affordable server free cafe has plenty of seating both in and outside. While you're waiting for someone to finish up their shopping just steps away at First Colony Mall, enjoy their complimentary wireless internet with an ice cold beer, glass of wine, creamy Cappuccino, or fresh satisfying Arnold Palmer. If you're hungry, they serve hearty omelets all day and an incredible lineup of salads. Consider the huge slices of freshly baked cakes as well. -Adam Rosen
