Buffalo Bayou Brewing Company

"Houston Brews"

Buffalo Bayou Brewing is by far one of the most adventurous breweries in Houston. Brewing up beers like Gingerbread Stout, their tribute to BBQ beer Smoke on the Bayou and many more, all the beverages include some sort of tribute to various Houston points of pride, be it anything from the date the city was founded to the city's prestigious Rice University. Visitors are encouraged to bring their own food and hang out during the open house and soak up the Bayou as much as possible!

McElroy's Pub

"Old-world Charm"

This popular Irish pub is authentic right down to the friendly Irish staff. McElroy's Pub features classic Irish decor and interiors washed in earthy brown accents, with all the elements gravitating towards comfort. Superb staff and bartenders, prompt and friendly service, warm and welcoming ambiance, and laid-back vibes are the hallmarks of this establishment. The old-world atmosphere is well-complemented by an excellent selection of Irish and Scotch Whiskeys and a wide array of imported and domestic beers. A big-screen television and dart boards make the pub complete.

Karbach Brewing

"Beerific"

Karbach Brewing has been brewing and serving Houston since 2011. The brewery turns out craft brews in several categories: the "starting lineup" of regular year-round beers, the "seasonal lineup", limited release beers and their "F.U.N Series." Favorites from Karbach around the city include the Hopadillo IPA, Weekend Warrior Pale Ale and Karbachtoberfest to name just a few. Friday evenings and Saturday afternoons come in to the brewery for a tour. Admission price gets you a souvenir glass and four drink tickets. In addition to the brews, open house days also see food trucks come in to the drinking area so you can soak up a little of that beer.
