

"Best of International Cuisines in Denver"

Created by: Cityseeker

 5 Locations Bookmarked

 by Chefkevindoherty

Panzano

"Fine Italian Dining"

A nice night out with delicious food is what you'll get at Panzano, an Italian restaurant located in Denver. With a menu that is as elegant as its decor - the vaulted ceilings are impressive and plush, metallic chairs decorate the room - Panzano has gained its good name from such delectable dishes as the Pastiche, a pasta dish layered with spicy meatballs, cheese, ragu and cinnamon custard. Complete your meal with a delicious cocktail or a glass of wine from their extensive alcohol list.

 +1 303 296 3525

 www.panzano-denver.com/

 909 17th Street, Denver CO

 by Public Domain

ChoLon Modern Asian Bistro

"Big Market, Big Taste"

Named after the large Chinese market in Saigon (ChoLon is "Big Market" in Vietnamese), ChoLon is a hip, cutting-edge restaurant serving up artful variations on Southeast Asian classics. One of Denver's dynamic culinary scene's darlings, the restaurant, manned by star chef Lon Symensma, is committed to using local ingredients in daring ways. Its menu offers flavors in many portions, from delicate tastes on its small bites menu (perfect for business meetings and alongside the in-house specialty cocktails) to more substantial servings from its woks or large bites menus. Come see what everyone is talking about; your palette will forever praise you!

 +1 303 353 5223

 www.cholon.com/

 info@cholondenver.com

 1555 Blake Street, Suite 101, Denver CO

 by Ruocalad

Little India Restaurant - Downtown

"Great Indian Food For A Steal"

Little India Restaurant - Downtown is an award-winning restaurant for fourteen years in a row for their delicious authentic Indian food. The tastefully done Indian decor welcomes you for a befitting lunch buffet comprising of appetizers, curries, vindaloos, specialty dishes and more for just USD8.99 or for a delightful dinner full of Indian exotic dishes that too are moderately priced, so that you can relish the tastes of India. Enjoy the live jazz on Thursday and sitar on Friday nights. While you are shopping or are attending a show and are craving for scrumptious Indian fare, do drop in to indulge yourself.

 +1 303 629 5777

 www.littleindiadenver.com/

 1533 Champa Street, Denver CO

New Saigon Restaurant

"Taste of the East"

New Saigon Restaurant the dining-gem is one of the best Vietnamese restaurants in Denver and has been applauded around the city and won the 'Best Vietnamese Restaurant' multiple times. On weekends the place gets packed and tables are hard to come by, but the food is definitely worth the wait. The simple décor is nothing special, but the place is comfortable and serves great food. The menu offers a wild variety of dishes ranging from chicken and pork to Dungeness crab and frog legs. Vietnamese coffee and the ever-popular coconut juice are also available.

+1 303 936 4954

www.newsaigon.com/

info@newsaigon.com

630 South Federal Boulevard, Denver CO

by crd! ©

Pho 95

"Pho-Ever!"

A popular local Vietnamese eatery, Pho 95 has customers hooked on to its delicious soups and dishes. Celebrating the traditional Vietnamese dish 'Pho' - a noodle soup served with meat, usually, beef or chicken. If you're a longtime Pho lover or have never even heard of the dish, this restaurant sure knows how to cook up some excellent Pho. There are different variations of the soup, try the rare steak version or their 'Dac Biet' - a combination of rare steak, brisket, tripe, tendon and flank. They serve them according to sizes, so if you just just want to do some tasting, go for their small and if you happen to fall in love, the large will be happily served. There are various other authentic Vietnamese dishes, from curries to rice and noodles. The prices are affordable, so one can stop over anytime without causing a dent in the pockets. If you want to show your love for the shop, buy one of their t shirts with messages like 'Pho-Sho!' or 'The Pho-KING'.

+1 303 936 3322

www.pho95noodlehouse.com/

1002 South Federal Boulevard, Denver CO

JOIN US AT:

cityseeker.com