JJ Bean

"Coffee for the Rest of Us"

In an over-priced and over-caffeinated city, it is no surprise that chain coffee stores like Starbucks have proliferated. They serve a growing need of equipping yuppies, yummy mummies and faux struggling artists/poets/intellectuals with their must-have accessory, a trendy coffee receptacle complete with designer java jacket to match. Resist the urge to follow the crowds; head instead to JJBean. Probably the most happening place on 'the Drive' for coffee, it remains down to earth, thanks to the perpetual rotation of dreadlocked artists, writers and cyclists who frequent the place. In summer the garage-door walls retract for the ultimate 'Drive' experience. Anyone who enjoys their java European style (i.e. not swimming in milk) should try the Traditional Cappuccino.

Cafe Calabria

"Sip Black Gold as Mama Intended"

Like pretty much every other Italian cafe on 'the Drive,' Café Calabria has huge porcelain Greek-Roman statues surrounding a massive nautical themed fountain, an almost intimidating assortment of photos championing film stars with a lineage traceable back to the 'old country,' and a life-sized mannequin on horseback in full jousting regalia. But, on second thought, Cafe Calabria is not like the other cafes at all! A fine selection of cakes will very well complement your dark espresso. Check your to-do-list at the door, and you'll know that this place is best enjoyed at a true European cafe pace.

Bubble World Tea House

"Tea Lovers Paradise"

Tea lovers are in for a treat at the Bubble World Tea House on Kingsway. This brilliant little cafe and restaurant offers amazing varieties of teas including a varied list of bubble teas. Their bubble teas are fruits flavored and even milk based and they both definitely worth a try. A must try here is the small tapioca pearls tea which is much recommended by the customers. For the health conscious, there is the Jasmine infused green tea, which is very light, and healthy.

Rumi Rose Garden Sufi Tea House

"Exotic Flavors of Tea"

The Rumi Rose Garden Sufi Tea House invites you to enjoy conversations over a cup of tea. This small and cozy Middle-East cafe is a respite from the modern day coffeehouses where teas and coffees are served at a high price. Here, you can choose from a list of more than 40 blended teas, espresso, coffees and other refreshments, with the sound of soothing Sufi music playing in the background. The tea house is also home to a charming market selling teas, local goods and food items, adding a nice touch to the whole tea-drinking experience.
