Karashibi Kikanbo

"Spicy Japanese Treat"

Since its inception, Karashibi Kikanbo has been the go-to place for a scintillating serving of traditional ramen. Rustic and intimate, this restaurant boasts the perfect ambiance for a laid-back meal with friends and family. Each item on the menu can be customized into two levels of spiciness. Take your pick from the signature ramen and turn up the heat with 'kara', a spicy chilli mix, or 'shibi', a numbing spicy sichuan pepper. Be sure to have a glass of water handy while you dig into your meal, for you will definitely need one.

Fire House

"Delectable Burgers and More"

Fire House is one of the go-to places in Tokyo if you are craving some hearty burgers. With the board outside the restaurant tempting passers-by with listings of sandwiches, burgers and coffee, the fast food place definitely comes up to the mark on all three. However, it is mainly the burger list which draws in most diners. Along with delicious patties, the burgers come with a variety of toppings including cheese, eggs, bacon and chili. The ambiance here is surprisingly cozy for a fast food place, with wood floors and furniture, pictures on the walls and a bookshelf filled with interesting titles and nick-nacks. All in all, this is a great place to catch up with a friend or even go for a dinner date.

Mos Burger

"Japanese Style Burgers"

Mos Burger offers you a unique variety of burgers which you will be hard pressed to find elsewhere. Part of a chain of restaurants, this branch has a varied menu of Japanese dishes like miso soup and several breakfast items. The burger, for which the restaurant is renowned, is a fusion of American and Japanese techniques with soy sauce and other traditionally Japanese condiments being used on a patty which is made of locally-sourced beef. All in all, this is a great place to grab a quick bite, especially when you are on a budget.
