Si.Wha.Dam Itaewon

"Food Art"

The huge white cube facade doesn't prepare you to what is inside. Si.Wha.Dam Itaewon looks more of a prestigious art gallery than a fine dining restaurant. But it is and among the top of its kind. A part of the Relais & Chateaux, this tastefully done up establishment with antique Korean objects and other artistic installations as decorative elements believes in showcasing food as poetic renditions in bespoke ceramic vessels by renowned Korean artists. The result is like a painting unveiled where seasonal ingredients are used in the canvas to reveal a story. Get bedazzled by the beautiful plates and fall in love with the distinct flavors of their modern Korean cuisine. Reservations are highly recommended.

Pierre Gagnaire à Séoul

"Exemplary French Fare"

Pierre Gagnaire is one of the most lauded French chefs across the globe. His sole restaurant in Seoul and in fact in Korea is a much-celebrated French fine-dining establishment. Opened in 2008 on the 35th floor of the Lotte Hotel, its regal look is accentuated by gilded mirrors, Murano chandeliers and other elegant decorative elements. The expansive windows not only make it look more capacious but also accord stunningly lovely vistas of the nearby mountains and the cityscape. Using mostly Korean ingredients, their sublime food is a feast for the eyes as well. Complement your meal with wine from their extensive wine list.
