Odette

"Singapore's Culinary Triumph"

Odette, the love, passion and brainchild of chef-owner, Julien Royer, is an ode to his grandmother. This fine dining restaurant is exquisite in every way. Every single detail here is of a piece with Julien's approach and the historic location of the restaurant. Set in the former registration room of the Supreme Court, the elegance of the dining room is accentuated by soft tones and drop light fixtures. Seasonal ingredients from all across the world are the showstoppers of this modern French eatery. You can catch a glimpse of the action from the glass-encased kitchen. Signature wines from reputed vineyards complement the scrumptious meal. Reserve a seat at the earliest, for Odette is on the bucket list of many a gastronome globally. The ambiance exudes elegant sophistication, creating a perfect setting for an evening of indulgence. The menu highlights French flavors with innovative twists, each dish a testament to the chef's culinary performance artistry, immaculate presentation and attentive but not intrusive service. This restaurant is truly deserving of its 3 Michelin stars.

Bar & Billiard Room

"Elegant Bar"

Nestled in a late 19th Century building within the Raffles Hotel's complex, Bar & Billiard Room's history is an illustrious one. It is said to be the first in Singapore to employ a lady bartender in the 1920s which was a revolution in itself at that time. Oozing of refined elegance and vintage charm, its chandeliers and original pool tables add a character to this place. This fabulous old timer also has an impressive selection of carefully selected whiskeys from all over the world which includes rare varieties and limited editions. Their cocktails are heavily influenced by their single malt collection. Their Sunday Champagne buffet brunch is a popular affair among the elite in the town for its lavish spread of great seafood, meats and cold cuts. Reservations are a must at this high-end bar.
