

"Best Seafood in New York"

Realizado por : Cityseeker

📍 13 Ubicaciones indicadas

📷 by "Shreveport-Bossier: Louisiana's Other Side" ©

Ed's Lobster Bar

"Seafood Delights"

Serving up a big city twist on New England cuisine, Ed's Lobster Bar is a must try for seafood lovers. The restaurant is small, featuring a long raw bar and a few tables in the back. The decor is contemporary and minimalist, and the ambiance is lively. A popular spot with both locals and tourists alike, the restaurant typically has people queuing up to sample the delicious specials. On the menu are favorites like the must-try lobster roll, lobster ravioli, bucket of steamers and lobster bisque. Expect a wait as the restaurant is quite busy during peak hours. For reservations, call the restaurant.

☎ +1 212 343 3236

🌐 www.lobsterbarnyc.com/location/new-york-city/

✉ lobsterbar@lobsterbarnyc.com

📍 222 Lafayette Street, Nueva York NY

📷 by pastel100 ©

Blue Ribbon Brasserie (Manhattan)

"El Placer de los Amantes de la Comida"

El Blue Ribbon Brasserie Manhattan es el primer restaurante y, evidentemente, el más popular de la cadena de restaurantes de Blue Ribbon. Si bien es una parada obligatoria para los amantes de la comida, también es popular entre los profesionales que trabajan hasta tarde en Manhattan. Los platos de marisco son buenos, pero los platos de pollo, pato, paloma y carne no se quedan atrás. Las ensaladas y sopas son una buena manera de redondear la comida, y los postres son para buscar excusas para celebrar. Dada su popularidad y cupos limitados, se debe reservar antes de ir aquí durante horas de la noche, o sino simplemente esperar. Algunas de las otras sucursales que se pueden visitar son: Blue Ribbon Brooklyn, la Panadería Blue Ribbon y el cercano Blue Ribbon Sushi.

☎ +1 212 274 0404

🌐 www.blueribbonbrasserie.com/

✉ jared@blueribbonrestaurants.com

📍 97 Sullivan Street, Nueva York NY

📷 by drawsandcooks ©

Lure Fishbar

"Certainly Alluring"

A haven of delicious seafood and pretty people, Lure has established itself as a serious seafood restaurant - with a good sense of fun (mini ice-cream sandwiches!). Salmon tartare, sushi, lobster tempura, steamed branzino and beet salad with goat cheese ensure an evening of finely honed dining. And if you want to unwind after work with only drinks, the smart staff will guide you to a top-notch wine list. Reservations are necessary.

☎ +1 212 431 7676

🌐 www.lurefishbar.com/location/lure-fishbar-new-york/

✉ info@lurefishbar.com

📍 142 Mercer Street, Nueva York NY

by cattalin

Mary's Fish Camp

"Upscale Seafood Shack"

Mary's Fish Camp is distinctly West Village. The top-quality seafood on offer includes Maine lobster, Prince Edward Island mussels, New Zealand cockles, Portuguese octopus, Louisiana crab, Florida conch and Montauk skate wing, so it is clear that the kitchen works hard to procure the very best product from all around the world. Presentations are usually simple and revolve around hot frying pans, buttery sauce and crusty bread. House specialties include lobster pot pie, an oyster Po' Boy and everyone's favorite, the lobster roll (which, the menu notes, is in 'limited supply'). Wine and draft beer are available too.

+1 646 486 2185

www.marysfishcamp.com

64 Charles Street, Nueva York NY

by cattalin

Flex Mussels

"Fill Yourself with Mussels"

As is perceived by the name, Flex Mussels, this is a restaurant that focuses on serving seafood, especially mussels, in every possible manner. What is more thrilling is the fact that this is available at reasonable prices. White wine, cilantro, lime, parsley and cream are just some condiments that go into making the delicious mussel recipes. Wine and beer are served along side. Other seafood include oysters, calamari and lobsters. Apart from their spectacular raw bar, Flex is also famous for its desserts, especially the house special varieties of donuts.

+1 212 229 0222

flexmussels.com/

info@flexmussels.com

154 West 13th Street, Nueva York NY

by schatz

A Salt & Battery

"Fish & Chips"

This takeout shop, located next door to Tea & Sympathy and sharing the same owners, features some of the best fish-and-chips in town. In addition to cod, the store also offers haddock and sole. A Salt & Battery also specializes in 'good old' British fast food, including mushy peas and deep-fried Mars bars. So if you are craving a real working class UK experience in Manhattan, this is definitely the place to come to. Beer is also available to go with the meal.

+1 212 691 2713

www.asaltandbattery.com

info@asaltandbattery.com

112 Greenwich Avenue, Nueva York NY

by CA Creative on Unsplash

Catch

"Dine In Style, With Amazing Seafood"

Located in the Meatpacking District of Manhattan, this classy seafood restaurant is the labor of love for Executive Chef Hung Huynh. Winner of Top Chef Season 3, who churns out some magnificent dishes. Crispy Shrimp flavored with spicy mayo sauce is one of the delicacies served here. Complement the savory dish with a slice of Hit Me Chocolate Cake. Stuffed with roasted white chocolate ice cream and brownies, it's one of the most hearty desserts served here. A chic and classy ambiance combined with minimal decor, makes this restaurant all the more inviting. The open kitchen allows patrons to see the chef live, and the service is impeccable. If you are looking for delicious seafood, there are few places better than Catch.

+1 212 392 5978

www.catchrestaurants.com/location/catch-nyc/

canyinfo@@catchhg.com

21 Ninth Avenue, Nueva York NY

by Resy

Red Hook Lobster Pound

"Lobsterlicious!"

A trendy spot usually bustling with avid foodies lining up to steal a taste of scrumptious lobsters whipped up in plenty, The Red Hook Lobster Pound does not disappoint when it comes to serving the crowd-favorite dish. The lobsters presented are all fresh and garnished with delectable toppings, and you can sit back and unwind with friends and family as you dig into your meal with gusto. The establishment has been earning impressive reviews for its succulent food, with the seasonal menu decked with delights like chowder, crab dip, fish and chips, salads, and crab cakes, along with numerous variations of lobster dishes which will leave you spoiled for choice. Indulge in lime pies, banana mousse pudding and funnel cakes for dessert.

+1 718 858 7650

www.redhooklobster.com/location/red-hook/

info@redhooklobster.com

284 Van Brunt Street, Brooklyn, Nueva York NY

by Resy

The Sea Fire Grill

"Seafood Extravaganza"

Exceptional service and exquisite cuisine are the hallmarks of the Sea Fire Grill. With a raw bar offering chilled lobster, clams, oysters, and shrimp, alongside a menu rife with seafood delicacies like basted Atlantic halibut, yellowfin tuna tartare, and Alaskan king crab legs, this restaurant is truly a haven for seafood lovers. Chef Ted Pryor sources his crustaceans and other seafood from the remotest locations, such as Nova Scotia and Hawaii, so freshness is not compromised. Refined yet approachable, every dish is a masterpiece in and of itself. The dining area is sleek, modern, and elegant, with intimate lighting, wooden wine shelves, and a lovely fireplace that infuses the air with warmth and comfort.

+1 212 935 3785

theseafiregrill.com/

info@theseafiregrill.com

158 East 48th Street, Between Lexington & 3rd Avenue, Nueva York NY

by Farhad Ibrahimzade on Unsplash

Avra Estiatorio

"Greek Feast"

Opened in February of 2000, Avra Estiatorio is an entry into a grand Ionian home. From the limestone floors to the stonewashed walls and the massive French doors, one is overwhelmed by its luxurious yet homely decor. Come by to get an exquisite taste of the raw bar featuring littleneck clams, Malpeque oysters and so on. Be sure to taste the house specialties, as you wouldn't want to miss out on something special. A two-course Pre-Theater Menu is also on offer. This restaurant also gives you the liberty to create your own party menus, making it an ideal place for intimate celebrations.

+1 212 759 8550 (Reservations)

www.theavragroup.com/location/avra-48th-street/

info@theavragroup.com

141 East 48th Street, Nueva York NY

by Irenna86

Oceana

"Where Seafood is King"

Executive Chef Ben Pollinge's impressive creations have managed to carve a niche for Oceana in New York City's gastronomic charts. A luxurious affair exclusive to the elite, the fine creations of this seafood restaurant are simply spectacular. Seasonal ingredients blended beautifully using global techniques are on offer here. Try the salmon tartare wrapped in whole salmon and topped with caviar, oysters and caviar, a salad of Maine lobster, or the Atlantic halibut. Impeccable service and the opulent decor underline ritziness. A reservation at Oceana can be extremely hard to come by. But if you are serious about seafood, Oceana is a real find.

+1 212 759 5941

www.oceanarestaurant.com

oceana.contact@livanosrestaurantgroup.com

120 West 49th Street, 1221 Avenue of the Americas, Between 6th & 7th Avenues, Nueva York NY

by arnold i inuyaki

Le Bernardin

"Pescado Divino"

Los propietarios Maguy y Gilbert LeCoze llegaron a Nueva York desde París en 1986 para establecer este elegante restaurante con el único propósito de cocinar y preparar platos de pescado. En ese momento, pocos podrían haber pronosticado su increíble éxito, pero desde entonces, el restaurante ha recibido las calificaciones más altas por críticos gastronómicos año tras año. Incluso cuando Gilbert murió y lo suplantó el chef Eric Ripert, el amor y la dedicación con la que cada plato fue preparado siguió siendo igual. Aunque es excesivamente caro, no hay nada que se le parezca a este moderno restaurante francés.

+1 212 554 1515

www.le-bernardin.com/home

155 West 51st Street, Nueva York NY

by Nandhini Kumar on Unsplash

Marea

"Upscale Italian"

Serving Italian seafood creations to delighted patrons, Marea has already earned two coveted Michelin stars for their polished menu of authentic Italian coastal offerings. The chic interior is perfect for business or romance, and private dining rooms can be readily arranged. Chef Michael White's deft Mediterranean touch pairs globally sourced ingredients like sea urchin, lobster, oysters, marlin, scallops and octopus with rich sauces, fragrant herbs and bright, citrus flavors. Studying the menu alone will whet your appetite. If not, a glass of wine from their thoughtfully selected wine list will surely do the trick.

+1 212 582 5100

www.marearestaurant.com/new-york

info@marea-nyc.com

240 Central Park South, Nueva York NY

UNIRSE A NOSOTROS A:

cityseeker.com