1886 Cafe & Bakery

"New Old School"

The 1886 was once the gathering point for pretty much all of Austin. With its diner-cafe feel, most flocked to The Driskill's lobby for wholesome food, the quality bar and the friendly atmosphere. The now revived 1886 Cafe and Bakery is no different. Walk across the chequered tile floor and take a seat beneath the art-deco chandeliers. The 1886 Bakery opens early and offers great chocolate croissants, muffins and aromatic coffee. If you're in for breakfast, the skillet or Benedicts are just what you need. The lunch and dinner menus cover a good range of pasta, salads and steaks. It may say 1886, but step in and you know, it's still Austin chic.

Banger's Sausage House & Beer Garden

"Bang Bang, Nom Nom"

Great food, awesome brews and a fantastic vibe sums up Banger's in short. For the long form, this beer garden on historic Rainey Street offers quality pints as well as artisanal farm-to-table food. With an endless list of refreshing beers that accompany the comfort food on its menu, Banger's is easily one of the most popular joints in Austin. Additionally, the outdoor beer garden with long tables is reminiscent of those in Munich and when the weather is right, it's a great place to take one or two of Banger's 30 or so housemade sausages alongside a frosty pint.

Pluckers Wing Bar

"Great Wings and More"

Pluckers Wing Bar specializes in serving some of the best chicken wings in Austin. This outlet near the University of Texas sees a regular stream of students all day, and even in the night as an after-party hang out place. The menu is quite varied, and one can choose from a variety of sauces to put on their wings, and side dishes such as fried pickles are also offered. Depending on your appetite, you can go for a pack of 5 wings or 100! Burgers, sandwiches and salads are also available.

Lucy in Disguise with Diamonds

"Disfraces y Ropa Vintage"

Esta es la tienda 'vintage' más importante y extravagante de Austin. Esta fabulosa tienda es principalmente una tienda de disfraces llena de miles de opciones que van desde vestidos de gorilas hasta toreros y princesas, y tienen todos los accesorios necesarios. Para quienes tienen un estilo personal poco convencional, también hay una gran selección de ropa retro para utilizar a diario.

Allens Boots

"Ropa de Vaqueros"

Allens Boots ha estado en el distrito comercial de South Congress durante años. El exterior es de estuco bastante insulso, pero el cartel de la puerta no deja ninguna duda en cuanto a lo que venden aquí. Esta es una tienda de prendas western, desde Wranglers hasta botas Justin, y mucho más. Aquí se puede conseguir un clásico sombrero Resistol y un par de botas de lacero, o un elegante par de botas de piel de lagarto o serpiente. Cuentan tanto con ropa de lujo así como también ropa de trabajo. Los vaqueros urbanos son bienvenidos a comprar, aunque también venden ropa menos ostentosa.

Big Top Candy Shop

"Cavity Heaven"

If you've got a serious candy craving, Big Top Candy Shop probably has what you're looking for. In its circus-themed store, complete with striped walls and circus posters on the walls, candy is everywhere. Big Top has old-time goodies like Bit-O-Honey and Chick-O-Sticks, as well as new novelty candies and other edibles, like bacon-flavored mints. Children of the 80s will find Now & Laters and Fun Dips. A glass case holds unusual chocolate-covered items like potato chips and gummy bears, while bulk bins contain a large selection of gummies, jelly beans, and hard candies. A real soda fountain also offers treats like egg creams, phosphates, and Blue Bell ice cream.

Antonelli's Cheese House

"Choc-full of Cheese"

If you're into cheese and are in Austin, you should visit Antonelli's Cheese Shop. Owned and operated by the adorable couple, John and Kendall Antonelli, this cheese shop offers several kinds of artisanal cheeses that are sure to delight every cheese champion. You'd be greeted warmly, first by the overwhelming (bordering on stinky) aroma, and then by one of the employees who will politely divert your attention to the vast array of cheeses on display and guide you through numerous flavors and types till you pick some of your liking. Antonelli's also offers catering services wherein they deliver absolutely delish meat n' cheese platters that will definitely knock your event up a notch!

Asahi Imports

"Japanese Grocery & Gift Store"

This business has been functioning for more than a few decades, and the store has been open at its current location for more than a number of years. So far, it is the only Japanese grocery and gift store within the Austin-Round Rock-San Marcos metropolis. For being the only store of its kind in this large capital of the second most populated United State, this mid-sized boutique packs a punch! Everything from frozen meat, to produce, to even hakama shirts (traditional Japanese men's wear) are for sale. Browse the clearance bin at the far end of the store to carefully examine the price tags of the alcohol, as bargains are rampant.

Dragon's Lair Comics & Fantasy

"For Sci-Fi & Fantasy Lovers"

Science-fiction and fantasy aficionadi, there's a store for you! The Dragon's Lair shop looks average from the outside, but it's quite MASSIVE. Everything that falls under the umbrella terms of "science-fiction" and "fantasy" is sold here. Amongst the books, there are action figures, autographed memorabilia, board games, home decor, set pieces, stuffed animals, t-shirts and more. A large room in the back and a few tables throughout the store are reserved for special tournaments, such as Dungeons & Dragons. Snacks, like M&Ms and Skittles, are sold as well to keep serious gamers happy during their battles. Those of you who are allergic to cats, take note, since there are a couple of cats belonging to the staff that roam free in the shop.

Ramen Tatsu-Ya

"Noodle Delights"

Established in 2012, Ramen Tatsu-Ya takes pride in being one-of-a-kind in Austin. This restaurant attempts to recreate the typical feel of Japanese ramen stalls as found with its ambiance and food. As the name suggests, the specialty of this place is the ramen; the wheat for the noodles and the broth are prepared fresh, on-site, so you are sure to get only the best. Refraining from accepting reservations, Ramen Tatsu-Ya is an intimate space that can seat approximately 38 guests; get there well in advance to grab a table.
