

"Best French in Austin"

Realizado por : Cityseeker

 3 Ubicaciones indicadas

Péché

"Mixological Delights"

Péché is French for 'sin' and this is definitely the place to go to for wickedly delicious cocktails. This locale offers fine French fare, with daily specials that include everything from quintessentially French soups and grilled veal porterhouse to lamb cassoulet and pork involtini. They have an envious drink menu that consists of its famous pre-prohibition cocktails like the classic Sazerac or the more contemporary ones like the fig Manhattan, not to mention it's Austin's first absinthe bar. Stop on by for a trip to the old world of classy cuisine at Péché

Lenoir

"South Austin Fusion"

Lenoir features an exquisite fusion and contemporary prix-fixe menu prepared from the finest seasonal ingredients. Served in a rustic setting, the fare is reasonably priced without compromising quality and service. The ambiance is distinctly Greek inspired, making use of whites and aquamarine, while the unique glass lanterns hung from the ceiling add a charming allure to this restaurant. The prix fixe menu changes with the seasonality of ingredients used but some of the specialties which have been adored in the past are the seared duck, gulf shrimp in mains along with salted caramel tarts in desserts. Have a sumptuous meal in the cozy patio or in the charming interiors at this lovely French restaurant.

Justine's Brasserie

"Comida y Bebida con Estilo"

Justine's Brasserie sirve una de las mejores comidas de Austin. Se especializa en cocina francesa, y se encuentra en una pequeña casa muy elegante en el este de Austin. No se aceptan reservas, así que hay que prepararse para esperar por una mesa, ya que es muy popular. Cuando se consigue un asiento, hay que asegurarse de comenzar la comida con los caracoles, uno de los platos más populares del lugar.
