Metropolitan Grill

"Clásico Asador"

Este asador de estilo neoyorkino está clasificado entre los 10 mejores restaurantes de carnes en los Estados Unidos. Conocido simplemente como "The Met", este restaurante de lujo es uno de los favoritos entre la gente de negocios del centro. El acogedor restaurante cuenta con altos respaldos, cabinas lujosas, barandillas de bronce y pisos con baldosas, y ofrece un servicio impecable. Además de una extensa carta de pastas, mariscos y carnes, la cocina cuenta con platos del día tentadores. Para quienes disfrutan del Scotch, la barra cuenta con más de 22 variedades de whisky de malta. El martini Smoky Met está para no perderse.

The Brooklyn Seafood, Steak & Oyster House

"Flavors Of The Pacific Northwest"

Beautifully plated, contemporary fare is the talking point at The Brooklyn. Almost always buzzing with food lovers, it features sumptuous preparations of steak and seafood, served in a sophisticated yet warm environment. Scallops with Foie Gras, Steak Tartare and Oysters Rockefeller are some of the divine dishes on the ever-evolving menu. To complement the same, choose from a host of microbrews and cocktails - Holier Than Thou and Chrysanthemum being popular choices. If you're in the mood for something light, head to the oyster bar and sample one of 13 varieties, primarily from Washington and the Pacific Northwest, for a melt-in-your mouth moment like no other.

El Gaucho

"World-Class Steak"

Recalling upper-crust New York in the 1940s, El Gaucho is not your typical relaxed Seattle restaurant. The waiters are tuxedoed, a piano plays in the background and candles flicker, shedding light over lots of dark wood inside the restaurant. Perfectly prepared steak and seafood dishes fill the menu. Order Chateaubriand for two, carved table side, or an Australian lobster tail. This establishment also includes a full bar.

Melrose Grill

"History and Steaks"

Housed in a century old building that's a prominent historical landmark in Renton, Melrose Grill has gone through a number of incarnations ranging from a hotel cafe and saloon to a soda parlor in the course of its rich history. A fire in 1928 and numerous change of ownerships later, the Melrose can finally be said to be back to its former glory, winning rave accolades and a slew of awards with statewide acclaim. The interiors, though updated to modern standards makes no effort to let go of its past with blown up historic photographs adorning pretty much every wall. Subdued lighting sets a great mood for intimate dinners. The inspired steak menu, with choices in beef, pork, chicken and seafood will please even the most discerning of steak lovers. The wine list is particularly extensive and should have no difficulty catering to most tastes. Check website for more.

Flat Iron Grill

"South American Twist"

Classic American steakhouse takes a southern sojourn at this gem of a local restaurant that has been consistently delighting folks of the Gilman Village. Chef Cody Reaves's comes up with a stunning array of flavors with his contemporary take on steaks featuring some great use of South American spices and ingredients. The same goes for their grilled seafood specialties as well. The inspired wine list with global influences won't disappoint even the most discerning of wine lovers. Whiskey lovers are in for a treat with the huge selection of no less than 200 varieties. The elegant dining room is suited for business lunches and family dinners alike with good facilities for holding private events. Head out to the outer deck for an excellent open-air dining experience.
