Lake Washington

"Importante Atracción Turística"

Al igual que el estado en el que reside, el lago Washington lleva el nombre del primer presidente de los Estados Unidos, George Washington. Este es el segundo lago más grande de Washington, y atrae a numerosos visitantes diariamente. Mientras que el lago es un lugar perfecto para pasar el rato, las personas más activas pueden también disfrutar de paseos en bote, kayak, vela y otras actividades deportivas que se ofrecen en la orilla del lago. Aquí se puede comer un picnic con la familia y dejar que el sol les cubra, mientras disfrutan de uno de los lugares más famosos de Seattle.

Gas Works Park

"Planta de Gas Transformada en Parque"

Gas Works Park es el mejor ejemplo de renovación urbana. Aquí se encontraba una antigua planta de procesamiento de gas que ha sobrevivido a su utilidad, y se ha transformarlo en algo que hoy todos pueden disfrutar. Situado en la orilla norte del Lake Union, el parque cuenta con una excelente vista al mar y una espectacular panorámica despejada del horizonte de la ciudad. Es un lugar popular para hacer conciertos, andar en bicicleta, volar cometas, hacer un picnic en familia y mucho más. Este es también un lugar privilegiado desde donde ver los fuegos artificiales el 4 de julio.

Tiger Mountain

"Senderismo por Doquier"

Tiger Mountain es parte de los Alpes de Issaquah y tiene seis picos. Hay varios senderos en la montaña, que varían en dificultad. Sin embargo, hay que asegurarse de investigar antes de viajar, ya que algunas de las subidas pueden tomar todo el día y sólo los excursionistas experimentados deben aventurarse a intentarlas. Por otro lado, algunos caminos son anchos, con una buena pendiente, y pueden ser recorridos fácilmente por aventureros con menos experiencia.
