Bonnet House Museum & Gardens

"Historic Home of Frederic Bartlett"

Dating back to 1921, this historic two-story, 35.4-acre (14.16-hectare) waterfront house was once the winter home of artist Frederic Clay Bartlett and his wife, Evelyn. The Bonnet House is serenely elegant and preserved amidst the urban expansion of Fort Lauderdale Beach, which is what makes the land so special. Mrs. Bartlett, who died in 1997, gave the estate to the Florida Trust for Historic Preservation in 1983 to keep the property unchanged. Several concerts and events are held here throughout the year, and the house is available for private events such as weddings. Named after a waterlily, which once inhabited the property, the Bonnet House is open year-round for guided tours.

Old Dillard Museum

"Home of African Heritage"

This cultural and educational museum was built in 1924 and originally served as the first school in Fort Lauderdale for African-Americans. The Old Dillard Museum has now been restored as a community historic landmark. Housing an impressive array of artifacts, artworks, jewelry and tribal masks belonging to the fascinating African heritage, the museum also features a live storyteller, who shares his tales of Africa from inside a thatched hut. Apart from doing a stellar job of preserving centuries-old culture, the museum offers a glimpse of the stirring history of the region too. The Old Dillard Museum also boasts a packed calendar, replete with various activities that include lectures, workshops and classes.

Fort Lauderdale Beach

"Soak Up the Sun"

The Fort Lauderdale Beach is surrounded by hotels, shops, restaurants and residential areas. Other than sun-bathing, tanning and swimming, the Fort Lauderdale Beach is also known for hosting various open-air events, cultural festivals and boat shows aplenty. The sunny beach has seen tourists from all over the world flock here to enjoy the smooth blue waters of the Atlantic Ocean. If you are in the mood for some cocktails, lounging under umbrellas, shopping and acquiring a beautiful tan, you won't find a better place to be than the famous Fort Lauderdale Beach.
