Meeker Music

"Make Some Music"

This family owned music store has been providing Colorado Springs musicians of all ages with instruments and accessories since 1975. Carrying saxophones, trombones, drums, and other instruments, Meeker Music is a great place to shop for instruments, whether you're a beginner or a pro. They also carry other musical essentials like sheet music, cases, and headphones.

MacKenzie's Chop House

"Keep Your Eyes Open For Celebrities"

Keep your eyes open for the rich and famous; this downtown locale is popular with visiting celebrities. Elegant decor and superb service equate into a wow-this-is-great dining experience. Steak dominates the menu and the portions are so large that it has been rumored that some diners have asked for a power saw instead of a steak knife. The bar offers an outstanding selection of wines and martinis. Opens on Sundays at 5pm.

La Baguette French Bakery - Cafe

"Classic French Cafe"

It is an odd mesh to find this French cafe-like gem in the Western themed historic district of Old Colorado City. Exposed brick walls, tall windows that lend for perfect people watching, and the heady scents of baking bread and freshly ground coffee make this a very popular stop. Espresso, cappuccino and lattes are all offered and make for perfect companions to its food menu of croissants, fruit plates, cheeses, breads and its highly praised French Onion soup. Late Sunday brunch features an omelet of the day.

Independent Records and Video

"Music Brains"

Just the fact that all of the staff resemble former roadies for the Sex Pistols is a sure sign that they know music and are not just behind the counter because they can operate a cash register. Ask a music question and you can be assured of receiving a confident answer. The shelves are jammed with music from every musical genre and there are always two rows of CD specials. Cassettes, though limited, are also sold. The shop also sells new and used videos and DVDs.

Marigold Cafe and Bakery

"Heavenly Breads for Every Occasion"

This sophisticated looking bakery has become a landmark on busy Centennial Boulevard. Diners appreciate that there is a separate take-out area so as to eliminate the usual hurried bakery atmosphere. Sandwiches are a popular lunch item. Try a buttery, flaky croissant sandwich, and it will not matter which meat you choose—the croissant makes the sandwich all by itself. Daily chef specials include pasta and pizza. Dessert options are a sugar lover's dream. Buy a slice of carrot cake or take a whole one home. Also open for dinner.
