Selfridge's

"Designer Stock, Designer Building"

Aside from its iconic building which is truly a city landmark, Selfridge's is an exclusive, high end department store. The exterior of the building is designed in what is known as the blobitecture style, taking inspiration for its shape from organic, amoeba forms, and is covered in 15,000 anodized discs. Inside, Selfridge's is just as upscale and iconic as the outside, stocked up with all manner of designer clothing, shoes, accessories and even dining.

The Jewellery Quarter

"Gems Galore"

The jewelry industry developed in the city from the mid-19th Century. At its peak in the early part of the 20th Century, it employed nearly 20,000 workers. Today, the Jewellery Quarter is a bustling area that produces over a third of the UK's jewelry, and you can find tons of bargains in its many small shops. It's also home to the award-winning Museum of the Jewellery Quarter and some good restaurants.
