Village Hat Shop

"Brimming with Selection"

Most likely in San Diego, you will want to visit this shop to look for a sun hat or sun visor and not a hat to keep warm. Regardless, those who come to this shop will find plenty of selection here for any climate with more than 50,000 hats, in fact. Along with fedoras and fur hats, visitors will also find a mini-museum of antique and vintage hats in tastefully displayed exhibit cases. Prices range from inexpensive to very expensive.

Leo Hamel & Company

"All That Glitters Is Gold"

In this upscale watch and jewelry store, the merchandise carries snooty labels, but the staff and atmosphere are friendly and helpful. Among the shop's merchandise, shoppers will find only the finest watches from unpretentious IWC to top-notch Rolex varieties. Other quality brands at Leo Hamel & Company include Omega, Movado, Xemex and Chromoswiss. Jewelry selections here are impressively glitzy, including bracelets, earrings, necklaces and other decorative pieces. Appointments are not necessary to browse the shop.

Wilson's Leather

"Luxurious Leather Wear"

This long-established leatherwear firm offers well made, high-quality leather clothing and accessories, often at very low prices. The shop is aware of the competition and usually offers deals as good as you can find in Mexico, frequently on much better merchandise. Need a well-tailored jacket, butter soft gloves or a full-length leather duster? This is the place. The store also sells numerous leather care supplies, such as cleaners and conditioners.
