Rainbow Lodge

"Sportsman's Paradise"

Rainbow Lodge is the type of place where you expect to sip wine and play a wild game with the likes of Jim Harrison or Tom McGuane. Enjoy tasty seafood offerings along with a view of the ravine in White Oak Bayou in this century old log cabin. Plus, with rooms like the Orvis Room you know just where to take the outdoorsman in the family. Just let them gaze at the rustic carvings along the bar. Along with seafood, chicken and meat preparations are also among the favorites. Grilled Ciabatta Sandwiches, pastas and salads also feature on the menu.

El Tiempo Cantina

"Charming Eatery"

Vintage photographs of family members provide a charming ambiance. Due in part to the location, this restaurant enjoys a great deal of popularity with artists and business people alike. Outdoor seating is tempting in fair weather. Traditional Tex-Mex dominates the menu, but an unusual alternative is available in the form of Mollejitas, or sweetbreads. Of course, they are not for the faint of heart, so order with caution and enjoy. Finish off your meal with some sopapillas or flan.

Luling City Market Real Texas Bar-B-Que

"Central Texas BBQ"

Observe your Texan BBQ ritual at the Luling City Market Real Texas Bar-B-Que, a restaurant that lives up to its name. Opened in 1981, Time magazine recommended the place to delegates attending the Republican National Convention. With traditional recipes, briskets, ribs, chicken and turkey are wood-fired over Post Oak to exude a unique smokiness and oodles of flavor. Their specialty is the handmade beef sausage; it goes great with the impressive bar accompaniments, not to mention the pecan pie or coleslaw. What sets their barbecue apart is the tangy sauce with a hint of mustard, a signature item and popular favorite that is sold by the bottle.

Kasra Persian Grill

"Great Persian Family Restaurant"

Make a reservation and take a trip down Westheimer to the pleasantly international Westchase District for a pleasing taste of Persia. If you still haven't given Middle Eastern food a try, you are sorely missing out. Kasra Persian Grill is the perfect place to start with their warm and inviting atmosphere and crave-worthy food. Despite this being Texas, lamb is indeed the new beef, and Kasra's Lamb Shank is simply other-worldly. Not sure which spiced meat you're in the mood for? Get a combo, featuring hot skewers of either red meat or poultry. Even try the marinated Salmon Kebab. And you'll love the fluffy Basmati rice and spiced grilled veggies. -Adam Rosen

Grimaldi's Pizzeria

"Upscale New York-Style Pizza"

Grimaldi's Pizzeria is a fantastic place to get your pizza fix. Whether you're eating out or taking it home, the gooey mozzarella blanketing their tangy fresh tomato sauce atop a final resting place of perfectly thin crust is what food is all about. If you're not into great pizza in its most simplistic form, this Sugar Land eatery has plenty of combinations of toppings, like meatballs, roasted red sweet peppers, creamy Ricotta cheese, grilled chicken, and even Kalamata olives, in addition to the standard pizza extras. Feel free to choose your favorite combo of toppings baked into a crispy Calzone. They have wonderful salads as well.
