Le Point-Virgule

"Comics Year Round & A Humor Festival as Well"

Le Point-Virgule, a comedy theater in the Marais district, the historical quarter of the capital, features comics all year, and in particular during its renowned Humor Festival in late summer. One-man-shows, sketches, impressions, improvisation, musical shows, the program here is rich and varied, the setting, a pleasant and typical one. Every summer, a humorous festival is organized with more than 80 artists.

Caveau de la République

"Classic Comedy Club"

The venue was a former cabaret with satire as the main theme in 1901 which later became a stepping stone for many comedians. Now Caveau de la République is a critically acclaimed comedy club situated in Paris' 3rd arrondissement. Its tight quarters allow audiences to share a close proximity to the performers, but watch out for hecklers! Features six performances per night, with acts ranging from comedy to song.
