Kokob

"Authentic Ethiopian Kitchen"

Kokob specializes in shared, small dishes of traditional Ethiopian cuisine. This buzz-worthy restaurant prepares delicious meals with excellent service to match. Following Ethiopian tradition, the food served here is eaten without the use of spoons, knives or forks. The menu features a variety of scrumptious options including numerous traditional dishes such as Doro Wot, which is composed of chicken drumstick, a boiled egg, and berbere.

Bonsoir Clara

"Ottimo ristorante con cucina eclettica"

Questo è un delizioso ristorante, con un atmosfera gioviale e giovane, nel cuore del piccolo quartiere della moda di Bruxelles. Il menù è difficile da classificare dato che è molto vario. Potete gustare piatti di cucina francese, Italiana o anche Asiatica. Il posto perfetto per una cena tra persone che hanno gusti culinari diversi, o per quelli che vogliono semplicemente una ottima cena in un atmosfera piacevole. Il ristorante è spazioso, i camerieri gentili ed i prezzi ragionevoli.

La Marée

"Some of the Best Seafood in Brussels"

Sticking to the basics, this seafood restaurant maintains a simple decor, saving its frills to serve some of the best seafood in Brussels. While the main dish is Brussels' infamous moules frites, La Marée offers a wide selection of seafood. This restaurant has received much praise from numerous journals such as the Michelin Guide, Petit Fute, and Gault et Millau.

Brasserie Georges

"A Little Bit of Paris in Brussels"

You'll find this typical Parisian brasserie next to Bois de la Cambre. Smart waiters welcome you at the entrance right next to a wonderful display of fresh fish, shellfish, lobsters and other sea treasures. You can take out your plateau de fruits de mer for a chic picnic in the woods. The ambiance of the restaurant is cozy, relaxing and friendly and you can rub shoulders with the local beau monde.
