FNAC

"Books, Discs, Cameras & Computers"

Everyone knows that you can get anything at FNAC. Take, for example, the book selection: books for kids, foreign literature, comic books, humor, economics, and ethnology. It's perfectly laid out, with a defined area for each category. If you're not much for books, you can check out the movie section, and there is also a place to buy tickets for upcoming events. It's possible to spend hours here, browsing or buying, because prices at FNAC are very reasonable. And in case you change your mind, it's incredibly easy to do an exchange. There's really no need to hesitate.

International Musical Bookstore

"Music Books & Scores"

Whether you are looking for a musical score (jazz, classical, variety), a biography of your favorite jazz musician or music manuals, this is the place where you will find it all. Librairie Musicale Internationale is small, but well-stocked and offers a large selection of books designed to appeal to all music lovers.

Planète Livre Marseille la Passerelle

"Comic Book Shop"

Without a doubt, this is one of the best places to go in Cours Julien. As well as offering a stock of comics which are frequently updated and skilfully classified, you can have a drink, discuss 'Manga' or even hang around for a while, flicking through 'Géo'. This shop successfully intertwines the pleasure of discovering new publications with the relaxation of having a discussion with other comic book fans.

Les Arcenaulx

"Art Bookshop near Vieux-Port"

At this late night shop, which is a member of the association Libraires à Marseille (Association of Marseille Bookshops), they have numerous works of literature, fine arts, cinema and photography, as well as several old books. They also stock a huge and varied collection of ancient and rare books on Marseille, its people, their food habits and on Provence in general. Les Arcenaulx, also, has a restaurant and organizes many exhibitions, debates and conferences throughout the year.
