Maneki

"Serving Sushi for Over 100 Years"

Located in the international district of Seattle and established in 1904, Maneki continues to offer traditional and authentic Japanese sushi and dishes at shockingly reasonable prices. Menu items include spider rolls, ten-zaru soba noodles, gyozas, chicken karaage, avocado ponzu and much more. Make a reservation for your group and enjoy your meal in a Tatami room, where you can try the traditional Japanese-style seating on the floor. Try a sake from the bar, which is open daily until midnight.

Kau Kau Barbecue Market

"Barbequed Bounty"

Under a bright red awning in the International District, you will find this little restaurant specializing in delectable Chinese-style barbecued meats. The restaurant is small and minimally decorated, but it's popular among locals. The patrons come primarily from the neighborhood, but when it's game day at Safeco Field, stadium-goers fill the place up. Crispy duck and chicken are probably the most popular dishes. Other barbecued meats include excellent pork, and the restaurant also offers a variety of Cantonese dishes.

Rancho Bravo Tacos

"Inexpensive Mexican Fare"

Rancho Bravo Tacos serves some of the best burritos in Capitol Hill. Their chicken tacos and burritos have created a steady fan base in the neighborhood. Some of the dishes of Rancho Bravo Tacos that the locals would vouch for include Steak Taco, Bravo Burrito and Pork Tamale. With down-to-earth prices and a friendly atmosphere, this is definitely a must-visit in Seattle.

Pecos Pit Barbeque

"Barbeque Delights"

The decor at Pecos Pit Barbeque is virtually nonexistent, unless you consider outdoor tables and take out windows decor, but the eatery serves up delicious helpings of its speciality - pork. The meat is offered in just about every shape and size, and slathered with one of the best barbeque sauces in town. Unless you have a tongue of steel, or you are feeling adventurous, you might want to stay away from the hot sauce!

Thai Tom

"Classic Thai Food Is University Fave"

Thai Tom is a favorite of students of the University of Washington, which is just a block away. Throughout the day, Thai Tom is bustling and packed to the gills with college kids, so be prepared to wait at least a few minutes for a table. Once you're seated, you'll find the menu to be typical Thai fare, like Pad Thai, curries, noodle soups, and stir-fried dishes. The service is quick, but be aware that their star system for the spiciness level is high, so order one and a half stars if you usually request two.

Taqueria la Pasadita

"Mexican Food Truck"

Taqueria la Pasadita is one of the most popular tacos trucks in the neighborhood. This round-the-clock food truck has a great range of tacos, burritos and combo meals along with the usual Mexican sides such as avocado, guacamole and sour cream. Some of the choices from the combo meal options are combo pollo asado, carne asada and steak rancho. Taqueria la Pasadita is an ideal choice if you like Mexican street food.
