Poco Wine Room

"A Treat for Wine Lovers"

Poco Wine Room stocks Pacific Northwest wines, especially the lesser known varieties. The wines are not well known but made with a lot of care, skill and commitment. They also have imported wines which are affordable and delicious. Poco also offers delicious starters and desserts to go with their wines. Various cheeses and antipasti featuring locally cured free range meat is also offered. Poco has a warm, comfortable vibe and makes a great place to meet friends and hangout.

Black Bottle

"Affordable Chic"

Black Bottle is an informal gathering place that bills itself as a "gastro-tavern." The decor is minimalistic yet comfortable. A full bar, several choices of beer on tap, and imaginative dishes that are perfect for sharing. Indulge in pork belly and kimchi, mussels Marseille style, potato and prosciutto wheels, or one of several specialty flatbreads made to order. Finish with pear sorbet with candied lavender for a wonderful meal.

Sip

"Wine Library"

Despite the name, Sip is as much of a restaurant with high standards of food as it is, a wine bar with a spectacular selection. Modern American cooking with a focus on the Pacific Northwest is at the heart of the restaurant's food philosophy. Fresh ingredients and a creative approach to cooking make the food here, a stand-out. The globe-trotting wine list is an exceptional affair with good representation from most regions including the Pacific Northwest. Connoisseurs will surely not be disappointed with the sheer numbers on offer. Wine flights and samplings are a popular affair at the bar. The restaurant interiors are extremely elegant with excellent use of woods and wooden hues, and accentuated lighting that is pleasing to the eye. The formidable wine shelves are prominently displayed. The restaurant's beautiful outdoor patio with great use of natural elements is an excellent avenue for dining on sunny days. The restaurant can accommodate groups and is available for private dining as well. Check website for more.
