The Wall of Death

"Biking Art Installation"

The Wall of Death is a concrete art installation, designed by Mowry and Colin Baden, which is situated beneath the University Bridge. Resembling a structure used to perform bike and skateboard stunts, the structure was originally a hub for bikers and skateboarders until a major accident caused such activities to be banned. After this incident, a number of spikes were added to this monument, so that now its is just a nice spot for a photo op.
