Mi Cocina

"Traditional Mexican Restaurant in Sundance Square"

Located in Sundance Square, Mi Cocina offers traditional Mexican favorites, as well as a variety of seafood entrees. The decor exudes the charm of small adobe hut just outside of Monterrey, with rustic wood tables and chairs scattered about the dining room. The outside patio is much more festive and is an excellent place to enjoy your meal when the weather is nice. It is usually crowded at lunch with business people and tourists. The menu includes a variety of standard Tex-Mex fare including enchiladas, tacos and burritos. There are also excellent shrimp entrees, including shrimp fajitas and grilled shrimp.

Risky's Barbecue

"Barbecue tradition since 1927"

The Risky's Barbecue has a legacy of fine food and memorable dining experiences. Serving connoisseurs of fine food for more than 80 years now, it is one of the best places for succulent barbecued fare. Take in the flavors of the delicious BBQ sauce seeping through perfectly cooked short ribs. The buffet style dining is another highlight with a choice of two meats including turkey, smoked ham, chicken and a lot more.

H3 Ranch

"Gourmet Steaks in Historic Fort Worth"

This large restaurant sits in the historic Fort Worth Stockyards District's Stockyards Hotel. The huge open hickory grill that makes H3 Ranch's food unique catches every diner's eye. Steaks are a mainstay here; try the tender nine-ounce flaming tenderloin (flamed with rum) or the prime rib (spit-roasted above the grill). The roasted suckling pig and the tender rainbow trout filet are also favorites. Weekend breakfasts or brunches are excellent too.
