Original Joe's

"All Time Classic Restaurant"

One of the all time classic restaurants in San Jose, Original Joe's has been around since 1956. The waiters are never far away and the bartenders are truly one of a kind. Their menu is a lovely blend of Italian and American classics. Savor their Chicken Parmigiana, Roast Beef, Beef Stew, Linguine with Clams, Calamari Steak and Baby Back Ribs. Complement your meal with either wine or beer.

La Victoria San Carlos

"Mexican Snacks and Rolls"

Owing to its long hours, La Victoria San Carlos is as popular for breakfast as it is for its late-night dining. It is also a favored spot for relishing burritos and tacos and other Mexican snacks at inexpensive prices. Its breakfast menu includes torta with lettuce, beans, tomato, mayonnaise and one filling of the customer's choice. Guests can also enjoy Chile Relleno Burrito served with salsa sauce, rice and beans, Veggie Tacos, creamy Super Nachos, and Flautas made from sour cream, lettuce, beans, guacamole, rice and beef or chicken. This restaurant offers a choice of meat fillings such as Mexican red sausage, chicken breast and marinated pork. And if you can't get enough of their tangy Mexican cuisine, hire their catering facilities for your next party.

Iguanas

"Gargantuan Burritos"

If you are one of those who crave for scrumptious tacos, burritos, nachos irrespective of what time of the day, Iguanas will prove as a heaven for you. At this little taqueria you will find some of the biggest burritos in the world. This is not an exaggeration. You can gorge yourself on a tasty burrito the size of a small loaf of bread at Iguana's. The eatery caters to students and downtown scene-sters looking for a bite as the clubs are closing. Also a must are the nachos, which are likewise served in huge portions. Select your choice of meats, beans, sides, extras and send your palate on a delicious Mexican trip. People appear at this joint throughout the night, and are mostly those regular patrons who are addicted to the mouth-watering food.
