Royal Afghan

"Fit for the Kings"

Royal Afghan undoubtedly has the best to offer in barbecues and grills. The flavorsome spices seep into the juicy meat before being grilled on hot charcoals, making the food taste more sinful and succulent than ever. The cuisine is essentially from the regions of the Northern Frontier regions. Do try the chef's recommendation, the Raan Sikandari, which can be devoured at leisure. And a bonus to this feast, is the poolside seating arrangement, which is a unique experience in itself. The furniture is in earthy hues and the ambiance is very relaxing. With a seating capacity of ninety-six guests, the Royal Afghan is just right to avoid a crowded dining experience.

Persian Terrace

"Arabian Nights"

Perched on level four of the Sheraton Grand Bangalore Hotel, this splendid open-air restaurant enchants you with its Arabian-themed charm. Persian Terrace serves delicious Middle Eastern cuisine in its cozy, romantic quarters, with striking views of the sunset. The space is illuminated with ornate lanterns, come evening, and the cabana-inspired lounge seating sets the mood for an exotic evening. The live barbecue station nearby is an additional feast for the eyes, as are the beautifully plated creations from their kitchen.
