Louise M. Davies Symphony Hall

"Louise's Gift To The City"

This gleaming, mirror-walled, glass-enclosed cylinder seats 2,743 and the acoustics are phenomenal. If the minimalist look of the Louise M. Davies Symphony Hall is somewhat disquieting, given the Beaux Arts look of the rest of the San Francisco War Memorial & Performing Arts Center, never mind. Like the symphony itself, the 9,000 pipes of the Ruffati organ that looms behind the stage makes quite a statement.

War Memorial Opera House

"Traditional Opera in the Bay Area"

Since 1923, San Francisco Opera has debuted the performances of several well-respected artists including Marie Collier, conductor Silvio Varviso, and director Francis Ford Coppola. Founded by Gaetano Merolo, the War Memorial Opera House, housed in the War Memorial & Performing Arts Center, has been the home of the Opera since 1932. Tours are available only during the opera season. The concert is held on the Sunday following opening night of the Fall Season. San Francisco Opera is the second largest opera company in North America. The Opera's mission is to enrich, be creative and innovative, take leadership and present opera performances of the highest international quality.

Herbst Theatre

"Civic Center Venue"

The Herbst Theatre is part of the War Memorial & Performing Arts Center located across the street from San Francisco's stunning City Hall. Herbst plays host to a plethora of cultural events ranging from lectures and discussions (by the likes of Ricky Jay and Dave Eggers) to full-on rock concerts (by such luminaries as Ryan Adams and Beirut). It features a 928-seat recital hall as well as murals painted by renowned artist Frank Brangwyn for the Panama-Pacific International Exposition of 1915 in San Francisco.

Orpheum Theatre

"San Francisco Elegance"

In 1981, the Orpheum Theatre opened under new management with the hilarious musical The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas. Sixteen years later, a massive and privately funded renovation took place at the Orpheum, unveiling an ornate and stunning theater that has become synonymous with elegance in San Francisco. Blockbuster musicals have been housed here, and continues with its tradition of entertaining and inspiring awe in its audiences.

Golden Gate Theatre

"Best Of Broadway & More"

As a key player in the "Best of Broadway" seasons since 1979, the Golden Gate Theatre has hosted show-stopping musicals like A Chorus Line, which re-opened the theater on December 27, 1979. This was followed by Camelot with Richard Burton, Sweeney Todd with Angela Lansbury, My Fair Lady with Rex Harrison, Bette Midler, and Liza Minnelli, Woman of the Year with Lauren Bacall, 42nd Street, Cabaret, Zorba with Anthony Quinn, and Fiddler on the Roof with Topol, among many more. With its grand and complicated past, this theater has survived numerous renovations and uses and has emerged as a house full of theatrical memories.

Victoria Theatre

"The City's Oldest Theater"

Located in the historic Mission District, the Victoria Theater, a former vaudeville house, is a 480-seater place considered the oldest theater house in all of San Francisco. Built in 1908, this theater has been screening films for a long time right from locally made movies to film festivals and even concerts. Features include amazing Dolby quality sound and a 35mm video screen. Many international film-makers have used this venue while filming, making it an important landmark. Personalities like Whoopie Goldberg, Bill Irwin, Donald O'Connor and Micheal Moore have made appearances here. This venue can also be rented out for live stage productions and other events.

Intersection for the Arts

"Art at its Best"

With a welcoming ambiance, Intersection for the Arts tops the list as being extremely unpretentious. Equipped with a huge space for exhibiting versatile art and crafts and a box theater for showcasing plays and movies, the venue is the pride of the Mission District. Many of the plays that take place here are not commercial but for the good of the community and neighborhood in particular. The artistic types are sure to meet like-minded people and be able to network with a diverse group of creative individuals. A non-profit organization without the glamorous facade—visit it once to believe it!

American Conservatory Theater (A.C.T.)

"Comedy en Tragedie Vieren"

Het A.C.T. huist al sinds 1965 in het Geary Theater. Deze groep met zijn prijswinnende repertoire is de trainingsplek voor acteurs als Rene Auberjonois en Annette Benning. Ze presenteren nieuw werk zoals de bejubelde stukken als August Wilson en Tom Stoppard en proberen nieuwe innovatieve aanpakken om de klassiekers weer tot leven te brengen. Een oude, uitmuntende productie van Tartuffe was aangepast aan het Amerikaanse zuiden, in de jaren 50 en met een voornamelijk Afrikaan-Amerikaanse cast. Bijna al hun stukken worden door de critici toegejuicht, zoals de meer recentelijk The Quality of Life door Jane Anderson. Hun jaarlijkse muzikale versie van A Christmas Carol is een traditie in San Francisco. Het Geary Theater zelf is een juweel van elegantie zonder pretenties. Zie hun website om kaartjes te kopen.

Yerba Buena Center for the Arts (YBCA)

"Complex Vol met Creativiteit"

Fijne en beeldende kunst zijn de focus van het Yerba Buena Center for the Arts, die een galerie, een bioscoop, een theater voor live optredens en een prachtig gevormde tuin met schitterende fonteinen heeft. Neem de tijd om degene te bezoeken die is gewijd aan Martin Luther King Jr. die de wandelaars uitnodigt om achter een waterval te lopen terwijl ze de citaten van hem en andere vermoorde leiders van de Civil Rights moments beschouwen. Muziek en theatergezelschappen treden op tussen de vijfeneenhalf acre grote tuin tijdens de lunch van mei tot september. Tegelijk met voorstellingen en informatieve lezingen en seminars, poëzie workshops en lokale artiestenprogramma's.

The Marsh

"Live Optredens, Funky Sfeer"

Deze plek voor optredens prijst zichzelf als de broedplaats voor nieuwe artiesten. Wat je hier zult vinden is beeldende kunst, toneelstukken, voordrachten van werk-in-uitvoering, alternatief stand-up comedy, vlijmscherpe choreografie en ongeveer alles dat zich niet gemakkelijk in een hokje laat plaatsen. De sfeer is zoals een café, er is eten en drinken beschikbaar en een allegaartje van stoelen, banken en bistrotafels. Er is geen betere plek om heen te gaan als je klaar bent met telkens dezelfde live optredens. Reserveringen worden ten eerste aangeraden.

Palace of Fine Arts

"Greco-Roman Palace"

Constructed as a temporary attraction for the 1915 Pan-Pacific International Exhibition, Palace of Fine Arts continues to enchant the city. The original plaster, which made up the monument's exterior, has been gradually replaced, with funds raised by the Marina's residents who wanted to preserve a graceful part of their landscape. Swans in the adjoining lagoon glide by the soaring ocher-tinted colonnades and the imposing dome rigged with panels of centaurs and warriors. Stroll inside the dome and marvel at the uncanny acoustics, then enjoy a picnic lunch on one of the park benches to provide an unparalleled view of this gem.
