Vertigo Centre

"Haven for Backpackers"

Located in the heart of Marseille, Vertigo Centre is located a short distance to the central train and bus station. Once two hotels, Vertigo Centre has been renovated to be one hostel that still keeps the cozy and classic atmosphere. You can choose between bunk beds or your own private room. The doors of Vertigo Centre are open 24 hours and there is no curfew. There is a bar in the lobby where you can have a drink and meet fellow travelers, a library with tons of city guides, free internet access and a lot more. The staff here is multi-lingual so they can answer questions you may have in most major languages.

Hôtel Saint Ferréol

"Centrally Located"

The very delightful Hôtel St-Ferréol is situated on one of the city center's most attractive pedestrian streets and has a special charm all of its own, which is apparent the moment you step inside, with its fabulous views of the bay of Marseille. Further artistic delights await in the bedrooms, with art hung from the walls, providing a sleek but comfortable atmosphere. Complementing the exquisite décor are opulent marble furnishings and Jacuzzis in each bathroom providing the finishing touch. Breakfast is also served at a cost.

Hôtel Le Corbusier

"Housed in Le Corbusier's Legendary Building"

Nicknamed la maison du fada (fada meaning 'crazy' in Provençal dialect) by the Marseillais in reference to its designer Le Corbusier, the 55,000 tons of this building resting on gigantic pillars and surrounded by three hectares of grounds provides an unusual setting for the three-floor Hôtel Le Corbusier. Built in the immediate post-Second World War period, this colossal apartment block was conceived as the ideal family habitat, complete with a supermarket, bakery and tennis court. Hotel rooms are on the small side but attractively decorated and furnished, and from the rooftop you get a great view of the sea.
