Smoke and Barrel

"Barbecued Meats and Refreshing Beer"

Smoke and Barrel is a popular bar and barbecue in the Adams-Morgan neighborhood. Focusing mainly on beer, barbecue and bourbons, this wonderful restaurant with its high quality food, ever changing list of draft beers and delicious ales is a delight to visit. They also have a well curated selection of more than 100 whiskeys if you are not a fan of beer. And unlike most other barbecue restaurants, Smoke and Barrel also has quite an impressive range of vegetarian and vegan options as well. Favorites include the Smoked Chicken Wings ordered muddy style as well as their house specialty Cold-Smoked Ahi Tuna. If you are looking for a lively evening out, Smoke and Barrel won't disappoint.

Hill Country DC

"BBQ Specials"

Hill Country DC features Texan-style Barbecue. Extremely popular, the restaurant serves up a wide range of specials to hungry customers. As you walk past the restaurant, it's the aroma of fresh barbecue that draws you in. The restaurant is done-up in a casual style; it's the food that has center stage here. Popular items on their menu include short-ribs, brisket, German potato salad and mac n cheese. The order process can be a bit complicated, as it's almost like a coupon system, but it's worth the wait. You can enjoy some live music in the lounge section in the evenings if there's a band playing.
