Hotel Monaco

"Romantic Decor, Attentive Service"

In 1997, a few million dollars went into the renovation of this 11-story building, transforming an old functional bell-switching facility into a luxurious boutique-style hotel. The 189 rooms, including 45 suites, have the feel of a fine English bed and breakfast. Despite the hotel's romantic feel, business travelers will also feel right at home because every room has a fax machine, two data ports and plenty of desk space. The hotel offers room service and has a fine dining restaurant, Sazerac, downstairs. Enjoy complimentary wine service in the evenings.

Sorrento Hotel

"Upscale, Uphill Hotel"

Built in 1909 and located on First Hill, a few blocks from downtown, this small, elegant hotel was restored to its original elegance in 1980. Choose a suite for a romantic vacation, and enjoy special touches, such as the hot water bottle housekeeping leaves when turning down your bed at night. Well equipped for business travelers, the rooms in Sorrento Hotel have two-line phones, fax machines, computer dataports and generous work space. Dine at the Hunt Club, one of Seattle's most exclusive restaurants. The Fireside Lounge serves coffee, tea and cocktails.
