Biga on the Banks

"Creative Fine Dining"

With a seasonal menu of creative dishes by Chef Bruce Auden, Biga on the Banks is one of San Antonio's favorite fine dining restaurants. The dining room is elegant and warm, featuring yellow and red tones and wooden sculptures throughout. Entrees are mainly American meat and seafood dishes, including the seared mahi-mahi and beef rib eye. The atmosphere is perfect for a romantic dinner. They also cater, so you can have their delicious food at your special event.

Boudro's

"A Texas Bistro on the River Walk"

Steaks, seafood and Southwestern specialties from deep in the "haute" of Texas. Located on San Antonio's famous River Walk, Boudro's is often the restaurant for spotting visiting celebrities. Don't miss the fresh Guacamole (made table side), the Prickly Pear Margaritas or the blackened Prime Rib. And be sure to dine with friends so you can order one of every dessert to share. Boudro's is a favorite among locals and tourists alike and books quickly. Dining is available indoors, riverside and on river barges with advance reservations. Handicapped access is available through a street-level elevator.

Ocho

"Chic & Romantic"

Spend a lazy morning looking at the scenic River Walk while sampling some flavorful tortillas and other South American dishes. There is a glass wall through which one can observe the surroundings. Come afternoon, you can choose from the entrees like beef tenderloin, roasted red snapper and chicken coated with bacon slices. Drinks are also served here that suit all occasions. WiFi-coverage is also offered here.
