Le Stud

"For the Fabulous Men of Montreal"

There's no dearth of fabulous gay bars in Montreal's Ville-Marie, so what distinguishes Le Stud from the rest? Perhaps it is the bar's gorgeous, all male clientele, or perhaps it is the effortlessly eclectic ambiance that thrives here that draws in the crowds. Le Stud started out with the simple aim of being a place for "men who love men", an idea that is integral to everything about this place. While the vibe is friendly and laid-back, the decor favors a dark, mysterious and sultry style, a balance that is rare and hard to achieve. The music is always great, the drinks are delicious and the parties are wild, with themed nights, pool tournaments and special events galore. During the day, though, Le Stud is simply a great place to enjoy a casual drink with friends.

Fabuleux Chez Serge

"For the Ultimate Hockey Fans"

One of Montreal's favorite hangouts, Fabuleux Chez Serge boasts of monstrous sized screens that play all your favorite sports, especially hockey. The place is always bubbling with activity and never for a moment will you feel left out among the cheering crowds. With a typical sports bar feel to it, Chez Serge is anything but pretentious, with dim lighting and classy furnishing. If you are the ultimate hockey fan, now you know where to head. Other than the flowing beer and the cheerful ambiance, the bar also boasts of a mechanical bull, which adds to the thrill factor.
