Lounge Lizard

"Vintage Furniture at a Good Bargain"

Located on SE Hawthorne, this thrift store specializes in vintage furniture and home accessories. With a staggeringly large inventory that spans couches, dressers, chandeliers, lamps, cabinets, racks, bookshelves, clocks, chests, rugs and various other fixtures, shopping here can take hours. The warehouse-like space is not cramped and the collection is also quite organized. Most of the furniture is mid-century modern or vintage; perfect to amp up the retro element in your home decor. Great bargains and discounts can be scored on every piece; but don't hesitate to buy something that catches your eye as the inventory turns over pretty quickly and before you know it that product will be gone!

Noun: A Person's Place For Things

"A Rare and Prized Collection"

Owner Stephanie Sheldon has transformed this part of an old post-office building into a treasure-trove that overflows with charming antiques and trinkets. Located in the quaint Sunnyside neighborhood, Noun: A Person's Place For Things attracts customers from all over, but mostly those who understand art and have a flair for collecting precious pieces. The collection here includes handmade items and cards by local artists, cursive typewriters, vintage furniture and accessories and almost every item has a story that inspires nostalgia. It is not uncommon to get lost for hours browsing through the treasure.
