Genghis Khan Mongolian Grill

"All-you-can-eat Buffet"

This casual, Westport restaurant gives diners a "hands on" dining experience. Most diners choose the extraordinary buffet where a guest can fill his or her plate with raw meats, vegetables, and an assortment of spices. One of the chefs will then throw the complete assembly onto a large round grill and prepare it. Add some fried calamari, steamed dumplings or an egg roll, and you have a meal. Diners can also order from a full menu.

P. F. Chang's

"All for the Love of Chinese"

Located in The Country Club Plaza, P.F. Chang's China Bistro, is for those who love well invented Chinese. Though the cuisine here is traditional Chinese, it is well known for a menu that features delicacies cooked the mandarin way but served with a contemporary twist. A full bar serves over 50 wines by glass along with a list of martinis here. The decor is as good as the food with interiors done in darker shades and mute lightings. All in all, the restaurant is recommended for those who want to satiate their Chinese craving in a casual environment and seal their dinning experience with a tempting dessert list.

Kin Lin

"Best Lunch Specials In Town"

Located in the bustling south Plaza area, Kin Lin is a great place to stop by for fast, delicious, authentic Chinese food. They have the best lunch specials: USD5 gets you a giant dish of your choice, along with rice, crab rangoon, and egg rolls. Their curry beef with French fries and almond chicken are especially good. The place is small, but the service is friendly. Carry-out and delivery are also options. When it isn't hopping during lunch time, this is also a relaxing place to sit down with a pot of tea.
