Morton's The Steakhouse

"Premium Steakhouse"

Morton's is an high-end steakhouse with an eclectic decor. The seating is simple yet elegant where you can sit back and celebrate the culinary fare offered. Try some classics like Filet Mignon, Prime Rib, Short Rib and more. The portions are decent and the dish is presented perfectly well. The sides like creamy corn, sauteed spinach and mashed potatoes are to die for. Patrons love to frequent for the Power Hour when the prices for selected drinks are dropped down considerably. Morton's has some private rooms that can be availed for a business lunch, family gathering and the like. Call ahead for reservations.

Chima Brazilian Steakhouse

"Meat Gluttony"

One of the finest rodizio restaurants in town, Chima Brazilian Steakhouse has been delighting meat lovers since 2004. The elegant and swank ambiance makes it a great choice for special occasions as well. Perfectly seasoned meats on skewers are cooked to your liking at you table-side by their gauchos. Eat to your heart's fill at this place. If you have room, then check out their salad bar as well. Round off your meal with decadent desserts. Their attractive courtyard with a huge banyan tree taking centerstage, is the domain of their bar. Enjoy happy hour specials under the stars and the sound of the adjacent water-bodies.

Steak 954

"Chic, Boutique Steakhouse"

Steak 954, housed within Hotel W Fort Lauderdale could very well be one of the most chic steakhouses in the city. It features a sedate, stylish and elegant decor that puts the 'up' in the 'upscale' as it gazes upon the North Atlantic Ocean from its patio seating, while some outlandish jellyfish move around mystically in a ginormous aquarium in its indoor dining area. The offerings are just as impressive as the place - a refreshing take on age-old steakhouse picks. Authentic in its essence and contemporary in its appearance, Steak 954 doesn't miss on the core notes that make a good steak good, in the traditional sense. This may even be the best looking steak dinner you've had, thanks to the meticulous plating and service here. Perhaps the prices are higher than what you'd expect, but then this is a boutique eatery with all the right trappings, definitely worth the money.

Tropical Acres

"Oldest Steakhouse In The County"

Tropical Acres has been in business for over three generations and lays claim to being Fort Lauderdale's oldest steakhouse. The Studiale family maintains a consistent commitment to quality and customer service with a reasonably-priced menu of regional specialties. Famed for their char-broiled creations, savor such dishes as filet mignon, pork chops or New York strip steak with classic sides and fine wine. Signature dishes include sautéed frog legs, shrimp and turf marsala, and authentic crab cakes.
