Leopold Park

"Pretty, Urban Park"

Leopold Park covers a large, landscaped space on Belliardstraat. With a history that dates back to 1880, the urban park still includes hints of this long, ancient history. Over the years, it has played many roles, starting out as a zoological park, then as a part of the campus for Solvay School of Commerce, and now as a popular public park. Home to a beautiful pond that's sustained by the nearby Maelbeek lake, Leopold Park, or Leopoldspark (Dutch), offers gorgeous views and a cool, shaded place where you can relax and soak up the sun with your family.

Théâtre Royal De Toone

"A Puppet Theater"

One of Brussels' most popular attractions, The Théâtre Royal De Toone has been entertaining audiences with marionette puppets since 1830. Not just for kids, the Toone puts on shows by Shakespeare, Faust, and other famous playwrights, all adapted to include some of the theater's trademark humor. Located close to the Grand Palace, the Toone offers shows in Dutch, Spanish, English, German, and Italian upon request. If you're planning a visit, reservations are recommended, as the Toone's shows tend to be very busy.

The Grasshopper

"Cuddly Toy Shop"

The Grasshopper is a place where waves of childhood nostalgia will wash over you. This is a toy shop where not one technological gadget can be found. Instead, there are cuddly toys in every color, shape and size, and toys that need to be wound up with a key to make them move or play music. You can buy floating seagulls to hang from the ceiling, and ducks to fish for, just like at the fair. Everything sold here is made in small workshops. This shop is a place where you can find great treasures and remember how it was to be a child!

Belgian Comic Strip Center

"Comic Strip Museum"

Housed in the artistic setting of the Waucquez Warehouses, two of Belgium's specialties go hand-in-hand: Art Nouveau and comics. Belgian Comic Strip Center, built in 1906 by Victor Horta, is home to a fascinating permanent exhibition featuring comics from more than 650 artists. The exhibit indeed traces the rise of comic books in Belgium after World War II, which have become the country's so-called "Ninth Art." The Center also features regular, temporary and interactive exhibitions. If you aren't fully satiated, the museum also boasts a great reading room, a delightful comic strip shop, a wonderful café and the largest library of comic strips in the world!

Woluwe Park

"Scenic 19th Century Park"

Spanning a sizable area in the valley of Woluwe, the emerald expanses of the Woluwe Park offer a wealth of natural beauty. The velveteen green spaces of the park have stood the test of time since they first arose at the behest of King Leopold II. During the Universal Exposition of 1897, the king wished to build a massive park that would draw the eye of the bourgeois, at the same time linking the Cinquantenaire and the domain of Tervuren with one another. The park evokes instant awe and wonder, with its quiet leafy alcoves, sparkling ponds, and nearly 300 billowing trees that feature across its broad expanse. It is also home to ducks, swans, gulls, and Egyptian geese, who are seen frolicking merrily along the park's tranquil ponds.

Atomium

"Homenagem à Ciência"

Criado pelo engenheiro André Waterkeyn e pelos arquitetos André e Jean Polak, para a Exposição Mundial de 1958, o Atomium é um edifício histórico inspirado na estrutura de um átomo. Para ser mais preciso, o projeto é baseado na forma cubóide de uma célula unitária de cristais de ferro, amplificada 65 bilhões de vezes para atingir uma altura total de 102 metros (335 pés). As nove esferas brilhantes são mantidas juntas por tubos, cada esfera representativa de uma das nove províncias belgas. O efeito final é o de um gigantesco átomo geométrico composto inteiramente de metal. As esferas são envoltas em aço inoxidável e abrigam salas de exposições e outros espaços públicos, enquanto a esfera mais alta abriga um restaurante com vista panorâmica da cidade. Os tubos de conexão acomodam escadas rolantes, elevadores e escadas que ligam as esferas individuais umas às outras.
