Churchill Downs

"And Down the Stretch They Come!"

A world-renowned racecourse commemorating Henry Churchill, the Churchill Downs is the holy grail for aficionados of horse racing. Spread across more than 140 acres (56 hectares), the track rekindled Louisville's hope for horse racing after two of the city's favorite venues were shut down. Since its inception in 1875, the Kentucky Derby has prospered on this track garnering many raves from jockeys and equestrian sports lovers from across the globe. Featuring more than 70 luxury suites, the interior of the site is decorated with murals of Kentucky Derby winners thus celebrating the augustness and exclusivity of the sport. A museum, stables and a clubhouse are also a part of the Thoroughbred racetrack's extensive layout.

Wrigley Field

"Iconic Ballpark"

Wrigley Field is one of the country's oldest ballparks and also one of the prettiest. You won't find any AstroTurf here because the fans would not allow it. The real grass is kept a lush green, and the ivy grows thick and heavy along the outfield walls. Now home to the Chicago Cubs, at one time the Chicago Bears football team played here. Even if you aren't a sports fan, you will enjoy a visit to this stadium. There's enough sense of history to satisfy anyone looking for a slice of the past. Make sure to grab a hot dog and a beer before finding your seat to watch the ballgame. Don't have a ticket? You can try to get a free peek of the game at "The Knothole" - a long rectangular opening on the Sheffield Avenue side of the stadium. Don't forget to check out the statue of famed radio and television broadcaster Harry Caray outside.

Camp Nou

"Casa do Blaugrana"

Uma visão impressionante e a maior glória da comunidade do futebol na Espanha, o Camp Nou é um dos maiores estádios da Europa. Lar do amado Clube de Futebol de Barcelona, conhecido simplesmente como Barça pelos locais, este estádio espetacular foi construído em 1957 em um terreno separado, quando a expansão do estádio Camp de Les Corts foi considerada impossível devido à falta de espaço. O estádio é às vezes chamado de "casa que Kubala construiu", em referência ao grande artilheiro eslovaco-húngaro que jogou pelo Barça na década de 1950. Kubala era tão popular entre os espectadores que o estádio não conseguiu acomodar as massas extraordinárias que se aglomeravam para vê-lo jogar em mais de uma ocasião. O Camp Nou pode acomodar mais de 99.000 espectadores por vez e é profundamente icônico por suas arquibancadas vibrantes, pintadas nas cores do clube: azul e vermelho.

Olympiastadion Berlin

"Monumental Sports Arena"

Built for the 1936 Olympic Games, the Olympiastadion conjures up memories of excited fans and Jesse Owens sprinting and leaping for four gold medals. Today, the Olympiastadion is home to Berlin's premier soccer club, Hertha BSC, and hosts major sporting events like the ISTAF Athletics Meeting. International performers like Michael Jackson, Beyonce, The Rolling Stones and U2 have taken the crowds by storm with their dazzling concerts here. Designed to impress the world, this monumental multi-purpose arena has done just that since its reopening in 2004. Visitors can wander around the stadium on event-free days, or choose to go on a guided tour of the massive arena. The visitor's center is perfect to learn more about the fascinating history of this monumental structure.

Coliseu

"Símbolo de Roma"

As proporções magnânimas do Coliseu há muito são uma fonte de admiração. Originalmente concebido em 70 d.C., a construção desta grande estrutura foi concluída em 80 d.C. Naquela época, acredita-se que este vasto anfiteatro poderia acomodar mais de 50.000 espectadores ao mesmo tempo. O Coliseu também aparece na versão italiana do euro de cinco centavos. Considerado uma das Sete Maravilhas do Mundo, o Coliseu foi projetado para ser um circuito de corridas de cavalos e arena para lutas de animais e batalhas de gladiadores, embora também tenha sediado importantes cerimônias religiosas em seus primeiros dias. É uma maravilha simétrica situada na paisagem histórica do coração de Roma. A enorme ruína é um Patrimônio Mundial da UNESCO e é considerado por muitos como um símbolo icônico da Itália.

Estádio Soccer City- First National Bank

"O Estádio que Eles Sonharam"

Este estádio inaugurou em 1989 e recentemente passou por uma extensiva restauração em preparação para a Copa do Mundo de 2010. A estrutura tem capacidade para 94.700 pessoas, incluindo 195 suites, construídas especialmente para o futebol. Assento nenhum é mais que 100 metros de distância do campo, e não há lugares com visão restrita. O design do lado de fora é em forma de calabash, um pote tradicional africano, com mosaico em cores quentes e luzes na parte de baixo que lembram a luz do fogo. O estádio será anfitrião para a partida inicial da Copa do Mundo, várias partidas intermediárias e a final também.

Estadio Azteca

"Enjoy Soccer at the World Cup Stadium"

This is the most important stadium in the country. Its construction was no easy task as the area where it was built was covered with lava rock after the eruption of the Title volcano. However, after a great effort, the stadium was opened in the 1970s. Since then, it has hosted many events such as the 1970 and 1986 World Cups, rock concerts and even religious events such as the visits of the Pope.

National Stadium - Beijing

"Bird's Eye View"

This architectural wonder was built for the 2008 Summer Olympics and is aptly nicknamed the 'Bird's Nest'. The inner seating bowl is encompassed by a seemingly random mesh of crisscrossing beams, designed to disguise those that support the stadium's retractable roof, leading to its nest-like appearance. With space enough to accommodate a whopping 91,000 fans, the stadium now hosts a variety of events, from live performances and concerts, to sports and much more. The vast arena has quickly become a symbol of Beijing's cosmopolitan spirit and modern outlook.

Estádio Alberto J. Armando

"Memorável Estádio de futebol"

Sede de um dos principais clubes de futebol argentinos e de um dos estádios mais famosos do mundo, o Estádio Alberto J. Armando é o ícone moderno da cidade. Datado do ano de 1940, o estádio é frequentemente chamado de La Bombonera ou The Chocolate Box por causa de sua forma única. Uma arquibancada plana e alta que se distingue das outras áreas rendeu ao estádio o apelido de uma caixa de chocolate. O Boca Juniors, um dos principais clubes de futebol argentinos, encontrou sua casa no novo estádio depois que o antigo foi demolido. Os entusiastas do futebol admiraram o local por sua arquitetura e acústica brilhante. O estádio testemunhou apresentações de alguns dos maiores artistas internacionais como Backstreet Boys e Elton John. Um museu com exposições de futebol fica dentro do estádio.

Eden Gardens

"Legendary Kolkata Garden"

Dedicated to Lord Auckland's sister Eden, Eden Gardens was conceptualized as a man-made representation of the biblical 'Garden of Eden'. Built in 1840, this sprawling expanse has a number of trees and shrubs scattered around everywhere. A large gateway covered in creepers welcomes you in. Once inside, you can choose to take long strolls along the winding pathways or seat yourself on one of the park benches and spend some quiet moments. The whole place is enveloped in natural beauty; the sight of blooming flowers juxtaposed with the surrounding greenery, the cool breeze and the general sense of peace together contribute to make this the 'Garden of Eden' it was meant to be. Named after the garden, the Eden Gardens Stadium is just a few steps away. Also nearby are major attractions and landmarks like the Kolkata Race Course, Fort William and Victoria Memorial.
